VIRTUAL EXHIBITIONS

We do not know when the galleries will be fully operational again, it could be some time yet.

So we have been looking at virtual exhibitions and a website called artsteps: www.artsteps.com.

A still from the current demo exhibition

This gives us the opportunity to construct a gallery and fill the walls with your work for people to 'walk' round, much like Google Street View. You can add text and caption details as well as sale prices. The website doesn't handle sales but a link to Beach Creative would facilitate sales through us, with a 10% commission.

This could work in one of two ways:

Either you go to artsteps, learn the process, (there are six very good short tutorials on YouTube), then put your own show together and if we approve it, we host it on the Beach Creative website.

Or: you propose an exhibition to us and, again, if we approve it we can assemble it from the images and information that you supply.

To register an interest please email: beachcreativeinfo@gmail.com

IMPORTANT NOTES ON IMAGES

Photographs need to be of high quality with sufficient and even lighting, and taken with the camera in direct line with the centre of the picture. And then cropped right to the edge of the canvas/frame, to get rid of any background.

This is really important and is the make or break element in the process.

Currently there is a demonstration exhibition for you to look at and get the feel of the system. Click and drag to turn, click on an area of floor to advance and click on an individual artwork to get a good view and details.
